Suffolk County Community College culinary students are regional champions for the third consecutive year and tops in the Culinary Knowledge Bowl after bettering five other college teams at the American Culinary Federation's (ACF) Regional Conference in Atlanta on March 15.

"Our team's excellent academic preparation, culinary talents, hard work and coaching leadership were a winning combination and I am proud of our team and their accomplishment," said Suffolk County Community College President Shaun L. McKay. The team will now represent Suffolk County Community College at the National Tournament in Phoenix this summer.
