

.A new "window" into space - right here on our Island. Check out the new observatory at Suffolk Community College in Selden. Students will use it for research projects - and to take pictures of space objects. Then we'll be able to download those photos online. The observatory will be 1 of 5 in Suffolk county when it opens in the spring.

Monday March 3, 2015
5 pm News