year. Suffolk topped Emerson College and Bridgewater College for the third place overall team title.

Debate Team Vice-President Nick Alleyne took first in Informative Speech and third in the Impromptu category, which earned him a spot at the national championships in both categories. Felipe A. Espitia Cetina placed second in Impromptu and will also be heading to the national event. Cetina is also a Suffolk County Community College Student Trustee.

Amanda Koscik, public relations officer, placed first in the Prose category, while teammates President Jacqueline Pusey placed fifth and Treasurer Amanda Yodice, fourth; Secretary Nicholas Krauss—in his first forensics tournament—drew third, and Faseeha Naeem, secured the top spot, and a first place trophy. Krauss and Naeem will compete at the national championship in the Persuasive category. Jaqueline Pusey is making a repeat appearance at the national championships, this time in the Persuasive category after appearing last fall in the Dramatic Interpretation slot.

Assistant Professor of Communications and Faculty Advisor Christopher Holfester said, the Michael J. Grant Campus Speech and Debate Team has won three national championships and twice won the New York State Championship since 1999 and former team members are now college professors and attorneys.

The team will compete again on February 22 and 23, at the Emerson/Lafayette Swing at
