Suffolk
COUNTY COMMUNITY COLLEGE
50 YEARS

WE ARE HERE!

Suffolk County was established in 1683, when the historic New York Colony divided into 11 counties. Located 40 miles east of New York City and covering over 900 square miles, Suffolk County is 86 miles long and 20 miles at its widest point. SCCC's original campus, located in Selden, was set in the geographic middle.

This little notepad contains 50 facts about Suffolk County Community College, demonstrating how it has brought big changes to the County-and its residents—during its 50-year history.