Majors and Programs

Suffolk County Community College offers upwards of 100 degree and certificate options in business and legal studies; communication and the arts; computer science, engineering and technology; culinary arts and hospitality management; education; health, community and human services; and liberal arts and sciences. We invite you to take a moment to discover all of the programs of study that are available at SCCC. For detailed information about specific classes within the programs, including course descriptions and availability, please visit our website at sunysuffolk.edu. Select QuickLinks and Class Schedule.