The Smartest Service Members Always Seem To Save The Most Money

At Suffolk County Community College, we proudly serve more than 700 military-connected students yearly. We recognize that each service member has different needs and educational goals. The combination of resources, institutional support, student community and personalized attention that we provide makes Suffolk an excellent place to begin your academic career or continue your studies.

What's more, because Suffolk provides so much value, our military connected students are able to save the bulk of their veterans benefits and extend their education by graduating and transferring to some of the most recognized colleges and universities in the nation.

Find out how you can save money while realizing your educational goals.
